

SUMMER SESSION

The North Carolina School of the Arts offers summer programs in dance, drama, filmmaking, music, and visual arts. Specialized workshops, seminars and classes are offered for middle school, high school and college students. These summer programs afford an excellent opportunity for in-depth study with NCSA faculty and guest teachers. Students who are interested in the performing and visual arts, but undecided as to whether to pursue a full-time professional training program leading to a career in the arts, will find the summer session valuable.

Dance

The School of Dance offers a summer session for students 12 years or older or who have completed sixth grade. The five-week program provides extensive, disciplined training in classical ballet and contemporary dance. It includes a minimum of three dance classes a day. Selected students participate in additional repertory classes culminating in a workshop presentation. Students who demonstrate substantial growth and talent may be asked to audition for the academic year during the session.

Drama

The Summer Session in Drama will challenge an aspiring actor and introduce him or her to the craft and technique of professional training for theatre, film and television. A blend of full-time and guest faculty from around the world teach classes. Students will be in class at least six hours a day, five days a week in a very diverse curriculum of acting skills for the five-week session. There is also a fast-paced, three-week intensive program for students interested in stage combat. This area of study focuses on familiarizing students with the essential requirements for performing safe, effective stage violence and fight scenes.

Filmmaking

Have you ever wanted to direct, write, produce, shoot or edit a video? The School of Filmmaking's Summer Session is your opportunity to learn the creative and technical methods of moviemaking. High school students, and those students who have just graduated grade 12, have the opportunity to work with professional faculty and experienced School of Filmmaking teaching assistants. In the process, students develop their talents and skills by immersing themselves in the exciting world of filmmaking.

Music

The School of Music offers large ensembles, chamber music, and solo performance along with private instruction from an internationally recognized faculty of artist-teachers. Also offered are chamber music coachings and daily large ensemble rehearsals. Fast-paced, two- and three-week programs are offered for particular instruments in addition to a regular five-week program. It is the ideal environment for artistic and technical growth.

Visual Arts

The Visual Arts Program, which offers a five-week program for high school and beginning college students, is designed to train students in the skills and tools of visual communication. Studio classes have been carefully planned to explore the mechanical, philosophical and intellectual aspects of the arts experience in terms of the individuality of each student. The curriculum includes instruction and practice in drawing two- and three-dimensional design, sculpture and ceramics, supplemented by introductory lectures in art history, field trips and intensive work in the art laboratory.

Information and Applications

All students interested in the Summer Session, including those students who are already enrolled in the regular school program, are required to submit an application to the Office of Admissions and a $50 application fee. Complete information about the NCSA Summer Session, as well as specific requirements for admission, fees, and tuition to the various programs is published separately.
