

School of Filmmaking

Deborah LaVine, Dean

I. Overview of the Graduate Program

The School of Filmmaking offers a 2-year Master of Fine Arts degree in Filmmaking with concentrations in Creative Producing and Screenwriting. Our faculty consists of film and television artists-in-residence as well as professional scholars committed to nurturing our students' creative potential by exposing them to an educational environment that mirrors the professional world's collaborative process. The MFA program is supported by the outstanding facilities currently in place for our BFA program, which is a comprehensive film production curriculum. Our backlot studio with four sound stages, a music recording stage, a highly valued technical operations department, as well as state-of-the-art post-production facilities and equipment, are unparalleled in the state of North Carolina.

Our MFA in Filmmaking includes concentrations in Creative Producing and in Screenwriting, strategically chosen due to the symbiotic relationship between these two professions. The Creative Producer is the person who generates and/or cultivates a project from conception to completion with an eye towards the project's commercial viability. The Screenwriter and the Creative Producer spend the majority of their collaborative time in what is called the development process: the period in advance of production during which the material is transformed from outline to final draft. The Creative Producer and Screenwriter also work together to seek the appropriate platform (e.g., long form motion picture, television series, or web series) as well as the market for the story.

We believe that the most successful filmmakers have command of entrepreneurial skills as well as storytelling expertise. Therefore, our MFA concentrations in Creative Producing and Screenwriting offer in-depth training in developing dynamic creative content for a slate of projects to write, finance, produce, and distribute across a variety of media in our ever-changing technological age. Classes include script development, deal making, marketing, financing, distribution, screenwriting, and film history and aesthetics.

II. Specific Admissions and Transfer Requirements

A. Minimum Requirements for Admission to the MFA in Filmmaking

- All applicants must have completed an undergraduate degree;
- Qualified applicants applying directly out of undergraduate school must show a GPA of 3.0 or better;
- Preferred primary applicants for the Creative Producing or Screenwriting concentrations should have a minimum of 2 years of work experience.

B. Required Documents to Supplement Admissions Application

For Applicants to the Creative Producing or Screenwriting Concentration:

- Letter of intent;
- Transcripts;
- Two letters of recommendation;
- One letter from an arts or academic instructor;
- If applicant is not currently enrolled in school, recommendation may be from employer, mentor, or artists with whom applicant has worked;

- Two writing samples in pdf format: one of creative fiction (screenplay, theatrical script, or short story) and one expository essay (of film analysis or film criticism)

C. Transfer Credit

Transfer credits will be considered on a case-by-case basis. The School of Filmmaking requires that a minimum of 36 graduate credit hours toward the MFA in Filmmaking must be earned at UNCSA. The MFA degree must be completed within five years of the graduate student's initial enrollment in the program.

III. Standards of Achievement, Evaluation and Continuation

A. Minimum Grade Point Average

Graduate students in the MFA program must earn a grade point average (GPA) of 3.0 (a B average) or higher each semester. A student who earns a GPA of less than a 3.0 in any one semester will be placed on Probation for the subsequent semester. If after one semester of Probation the student fails to meet or exceed the minimum GPA, they may be dismissed from the program.

Continuation from one academic year to the next in the School of Filmmaking is based on several factors in addition to course grades. Among these are: evidence of growth in artistic and/or technical abilities as applicable, faculty assessment of professional potential, professional demeanor, and creative discipline. Evidence of a student's inability to interact appropriately and productively within UNCSA and School of Filmmaking policies, procedures and expectations will result in dismissal from the program.

B. MFA Thesis Requirement

As a terminal degree, the MFA requires a rigorous thesis. Each MFA concentration in the School of Filmmaking has thesis requirements and guidelines specific to the student's concentration. For further information, consult the Chair of your department.

C. Time Limits for Completion

The MFA degree must be successfully completed within five years of the graduate student's initial enrollment in the program.