

ACADEMIC INTEGRITY POLICY
UNCSA High School Academic Program

Please read the policy and sign the acknowledgement statement on the next page and return it to the High School Academic Office.

Academic Integrity Policy

All work, unless cited or credited where appropriate (such as a research project) is to be solely a student's own work. Plagiarism, cheating, or otherwise presenting the work of others without appropriate credit or acknowledgment will result in a penalty for that assignment, to be determined by the teacher. (Penalties can range from a verbal warning in minor instances to an 'F' for that assignment, with a requirement to redo said assignment for no credit.) Additionally, incidents of dishonesty in one's coursework will be documented by the teacher and filed with the Academic Office as part of the student's record, and the student will be required to meet with the appropriate Program Director, Associate Dean, or Dean. Parents or Guardians of the student will be notified of the violation and its attendant consequences. Repeated incidents of dishonesty in one's coursework may result in the student being placed on probation, removal from a class, or dismissal from the High School. Administrative sanctions from the appropriate Program Director, Associate Dean, or Dean may be appealed in writing to the Provost's Office for review.

ACADEMIC INTEGRITY POLICY ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

A signed acknowledgment statement must be on file in the High School Academic Program office for each student before the beginning of Fall Semester classes.

Acknowledgment Statement:

I have read the UNCSA High School Academic Integrity Policy and acknowledge that instances of academic dishonesty may have a negative impact on my standing at UNCSA High School.
