LAND ACKNOWLEDGMENT

It is important for many of us, as settle-descended persons, to consider how the land we occupy continues to interrupt the cultural, linguistic, historical and political connections that indigenous peoples have to this land. We must continue to recognize how we have, wittingly and unwittingly, remained as actors in the colonization of what we regard as our original context of teaching and learning. UNCSA is on the ancestral land of the Tuleto, Sappony, Catawba and Keyauwee tribes.

A land acknowledgment gives honor to and recognizes indigenous territories and indigenous people respective to the location(s) we currently work and live. A land acknowledgment serves as a reminder that the land you currently occupy has long been occupied by indigenous peoples who have a distinct linguistic, cultural and historical connection to the land.

October 28-30 & November 4-6, 2021 · 7:30 p.m.
October 31, 2021 · 2 p.m.
Catawba Theatre

“Indecent,” by Pulitzer Prize-winning playwright Paula Vogel, is a deeply moving play inspired by the true events surrounding the controversial 1923 Broadway debut of Sholem Asch’s “God of Vengeance” that depicted the first lesbian kiss on a Broadway stage. The producer and cast of Asch’s play were arrested and convicted on the grounds of obscenity. “Indecent,” which won two Tony Awards, charts the history of this incendiary drama and the path of the artists who risked their careers and lives to perform it.

UNCSA Wind Ensemble and Chamber Winds: Inspiration, Imitation and Flattery

Friday, November 5, 2021 · 7:30 p.m.
Stevens Center

Premier ensembles of selected high school, undergraduate and graduate students, the Wind Ensemble and Chamber Winds perform “Pantomime,” which composer Gary Carpenter describes as “the shadowy and half-forgotten world of smoky music halls, vaudeville, burlesque, and their later, often televisual incarnations.”
