BIOGRAPHIES

INGRID MATTHEWS

Ingrid Matthews is one of the leading baroque violinists of her generation. She won first prize in the Bodky International Competition for Early Music in 1989. She has performed around the world as a soloist and guest director with groups such as the New York Collegium, Australian Brandenburg Orchestra, Bach Sinfonia and Seattle Baroque Orchestra, of which she was music director from 1994 to 2013.

Matthews has recorded extensively. Her recording of the Sonatas and Partitas of J.S. Bach is the top recommendation for this music by both American Record Guide and Third Ear’s Classical Music Listening Companion.

She has taught at Indiana University, the University of Toronto, Oberlin College, University of Southern California and the Cornish College of the Arts. She also plays jazz and swing styles and is active as a visual artist.

JOHN LENTI

John Lenti specializes in music of the 17th century. He has made basso continuo improvisation on lute, theorbo and baroque guitar the cornerstone of his career, which encompasses baroque and modern orchestras, chamber music, recitals and opera. Lenti has performed with the Metropolitan Opera, Los Angeles Philharmonic, Seattle Symphony, Seattle Opera and many other orchestras, both modern and baroque. He has also made well-regarded recordings with groups such as Acronym, Wayward Sisters, Baroque Music Montana, Musica Pacifica and Ostraka.

Lenti’s primary artistic influences are Vladimir Horowitz and T.S. Eliot, although he does not write poetry or play the piano. He studied lute with Nigel North, Jacob Heringman and Elizabeth Kenny. Lenti is a native of South Carolina and holds degrees from the University of North Carolina School of the Arts and Indiana University. He received crucial help and inspiration from Ricardo Cobo and Professor Walter Gray during some creative impasses.
