

UNCSA Summer Visual Arts Intensive Jennifer Xiao Scholarship Application

UNCSA Visual Arts alumni, Jennifer Xiao has established two $1000 scholarships for artists of color registered for the 2021 UNCSA Visual Arts Summer Intensive. The 2021 Visual Arts Summer Intensive will be virtual and extends from June 20 - July 17, 2021. Applicants should be 14-18 years of age and the scholarship award will be applied directly to the cost of their tuition.

Please note that since this will be a virtual class, an internet connection that allows live streaming and a computer camera will be necessary for participation. Live class is from 10am to 3pm each weekday, and participants can expect to spend an additional 2 to 4 hours each day working independently on art projects.

In UNCSA's online Visual Arts Summer Intensive, you will find a demanding and stimulating program designed to unlock your artistic talent and hone your skills in the visual arts. During online classes in drawing and design, you'll explore the philosophical as well as the mechanical aspects of the art experience. You'll dive into historical art concepts and practices and contemporary imagery through slide shows, lectures, and online assignments. You'll participate in classroom critiques throughout the four-week session, and in a virtual gallery exhibition for families and friends as a grand finale.

No prior experience or portfolio is required, just your serious passion for developing your own artistic understanding and expression.

To apply, please fill out and submit the information below to taylorw@uncsa.edu by April 5th at 5pm. Notification regarding this scholarship will take place before April 30th. Applicants may address any questions about this scholarship to Will Taylor, UNCSA Director of Visual Arts, 336-416-8218.
